besmond presided and Bert Larkie was secretary.

A constitution and by-laws was presented by Chairman Desmond and adopted by which the league will consist of four clubs, to play a schedule of 25 games, Sundays and holidays, from May 1st to Sept. 25. The four teams will be Greeneville, represented by Manager Miller, backed by an athletic association; Central team, represented by Manager Joe Desmond; West End team, represented by Manager Joe Desmond; West End team, represented by Manager Charles Levarge, backed by three sporting men.

The following officers were elected: President, Charles F. Whitney; secretary, Bud Counthan; treasurer, Timothy Fields. The umpires are to be under full charge of the president. Henry Congdon was made official scorer.

The best of local talent is to be secured for players, and managers are to draw from any part of the town of Norwich to recruit their teams. Signed on to the league at least six days before a game in which a player is to appear. All teams are to have official uniforms, and the receipts of all games are to be pooled and then divided, 25 per cent. to each club. Twelve players is the limit to be carried by each team, and a salary limit also was named. In a league meeting it was decided to give each club one vote, and in case of a tie the president's vote decides. Restriction and the president's vote decides. ROWING TANK

OF NEW CONSTRUCTION.

Machinery Supplies Strong Current—Crew Must Learn to Balance.

It is likely that Harvard and Yale will have an improved system of tank rowing before long.

The plans of the new Syracuse university rowing tank that is the first of its kind ever installed have been sent to Harvard for the Cambridge men to study, while Julian W. Curtiss, the graduate rowing adviser at Yale, has recently been to Syracuse to inspect the tank.

This tank is the first thing in the line of a rowing tank that has proved successful as an instructor in the art of pulling.

It is so arranged that there is no back whash and there is a really rapid current to pull against. Furthermore, the boat is secured only fore and aft in such a way that the oarsmen have

STAR PITCHERS ARE COMING ALONG FAST.

Batters Are Not Keeping Pace-Big Strikeout Records Are Growing. The development of star pitchers is proceeding at a fearful page, but the development of star batsmen seems to be utterly at a standstill. At the way things are going there will be regiments of classy pitchers in a few more years, while the art of batting will die out as soon as the present error of out as soon as the present crop sturdy old hitters is extinct. On a ery vacant lot in summer you can a ambitious young pitchers at work, flinging, curving, learning the tricks of the pitching trade, and so completely overshadowing the young batsmen that big strikeout records have become the rule, not the exception, at school and It was Jim Hart, a few years ago, who told an ambitious youngster to train tilmself for a third buseman, not a pitcher because pitchers did not last, whereas intelders could play the game for years and would always be in demand. Still, the modern pitcher, with any sort of good behaviour, outlasts the modern infelder. Yes, he actually does, Desnite the wear and tear upon his arm, the modern pitcher is good for a longer diamond life than most of his teannmates, and the records showalt, too.

How many men are now on the Giants who were there when Mathewson began? Elg Six has seen a lot of them come and go, and is still good for many years. Wiltse, a lefthander, has been pitching a long, long time, and is still capable, though the old idea was that a lefthander pitcher soon broke down.

Among the Highlanders Jack Chesbro only falled last summer after a career that outwore most of the men with whom he started playing ball. Look through the other league teams and see how the pitchers have outlived the fielders. Wilhelm of Brooklyn was pitching at college before any man on the Dodger team, save Bill Dahlen, the new manager, put on a uniform. Brown, the great pitcher of the Cubs, has outclassed an army of in and outfield stars.

clark Griffith pitched little league and big, for 20 years, and could probably work effectively again if he desired. Sparks of Philadelphia was pitching before his present teammates were off the lots. How many of the Pittsburgs have longer careers than Leever, Phillippi and Willis, pitchers all three, and still husky?

We all know that good old Cy Young begins his 20th year of big league pitching in the coming spring, and Uncle Cy is no slouch either. Where is there a man who played in or outfield there a man who played in or outfield on the Cleveland team of 1829-where
